Abus threaten to behead one hostage today

By Terra Quinsanda

SHOWER OF BLOOD AND FIRE HAS served as usual last night, but the three abducted leaders of the United Nationalist Front of the Red Cross (UNFR) refused to sit in the forced Indonesian Embassy of their Abu Sayyaf kidnappers.

The kidnappers threatened that they would execute one of their hostages at 2 p.m. today, unless the military pulled out from Jolo Island, a demand Interior Secretary Benigno Pura described as impossible to carry out.

"They know what will happen, that is why they don't want to act. They are afraid, sometimes they would cry," said a caller, who identified himself as Alimuddin Farid, the Abu Sayyaf leader, to radio talk show host Arlyn delo Cruz in Manila.

"They handle and free are not,"

Farid said. "They're in our place."

The caller told Dede Cruz that the government had said that troops had pulled out, but he said the withdrawal of troops in the place the group had specified.

"The call to Dede Cruz was made at 7:20 last night, but after 10:00 we could not hear anything from them, we could be able to comply for lack of time with the latest demand by the kidnappers."

By Rita T. Ochoa and Jerome Aring

WITHOUT A NATIONWIDE cybersecurity program to keep hackers at bay, government websites in the Philippines are vulnerable to computer attacks, an official of the National Computer Center (NCC) said yesterday.

"Right now we are, admittedly, vulnerable," NCC Commissioner Angelo Timoteo H. Dore II stressed. The NCC is under the Commission on Information and Communications Technology (CITC).

Dore II stressed the CITC had obtained government approval to start a 900-million peso program and was just seeking the release of the fund.

DAWAO CITY—CHARGES and stout denials flew as the Philippines' top human rights watchdog body yesterday launched an unprecedented inquiry into what it called "one of the most audacious violations against the right to life in our times."

The two-day public inquiry by the Commission on Human Rights (CHR) started by receiving calls for an end to vigilante-type executions that have left more than 600 people dead in Davao City and for the punishment of those behind the so-called killings. It is one of the most audacious violations against the right to life in our times. We have to stop this. It can't be denied, more recently, we have to put a stop to vigilante style killings," he said and said at the start of the inquiry from the

XAVIER HOUSE, A PROPERTY of the Society of Jesus on Pedro Gil Street in San Antonio, Manila, that served as a broadcast hub of the 1968 EDSA People Power Revolution, has been sold to the SMC Group.

Fr. Joseph B. Reuter, a living hero of the historic 1986 People Power, said he had been asked by SMC executives to move out of Xavier House and relocate to either Ateneo de Manila University in Quezon City or Xavier School in San Juan.

A representative of the country's leading real estate confirmed the sale yesterday. But Fr. Jose Gerardo Maganda, provincial superior of the Augustinians in the Philippines, denied last night that a deal had already been reached. "Not true," he said of the reported sale of Xavier House to the SMC Group.

Fr. Bobby Yap, treasurer of the Philippine Province of the Society of Jesus, said "the property has not been put on the market. We have not spoken to SMC yet."

Yap, nevertheless, confirmed plans to sell the St. Antonio property and other Jesuit-owned real estate "in light of financial problems the province is facing."

Vigilante rule

AT A MULTISECTOR MEETING IN DAVAO CITY last month, Mayor Rodrigo Duterte said: "If you are doing a vigilante activity in any city, if you are a vigilante or just a vigilante that protect the innocent people of the city, but at the same time, you are a legitimate target of assassinations."

That was a dangerous statement to make. It is an open invitation to lawlessness, a justification for anyone to take the law into his hands.

The law on the ground governs everyone and every part of the Philippine territory, even mountains and cities that claim that they have a law-free zone because of vigilante justice. And even where the state goes the due process route, no citizen is put to death because the death penalty law has been repealed.

It is thus a welcome development that the Commission on Human Rights has finally taken cognizance of the unexplained killings of 84 people in Davao City since 1998. The suspicion is that the killings were done by the so-called Anti-Death Squad, a shadowy vigilante group.

If the 84 people were suspects in various crimes, were known criminals, they should have been charged, prosecuted, tried and sentenced. That is the process in a nation that upholds the rule of law, and the rule of the rule of vigilantes. One big danger in vigilante rule is the great possibility that an innocent man may be put to death without being arrested due process.

Chief Justice Lito Lina said that what they were "mere assassinations... was the growing contempt or inability of public acceptance of the execution. It is a law that if it is people are being murdered, arrested. But what if it is a vigilante, or a vigilante because of a vigilante justice or a vigilante justice?"

Government and civilian forces or groups cannot take the law into their own hands. They have to abide by the process, even if that process takes time for justice to be done. It is the duty of the state to take the law into its own hands and to ensure that the rule of law is maintained.

GM, Peugeot CEOs dumped, car woes deepen

WASHINGTON, PARIS—THE OBAMA ADMINISTRATION asked the wheel of the ailing US auto industry on Monday, forcing its General Motors Corp. CEO, pushing Chrysler LLC toward a merger and threatening bankruptcy for both.

The move came after the report second biggest creditor of auto PSA Peugeot Citroën ousted CEO Christian Mihailescu, replacing him with former General Motors' vice president.

GM shares plunged around 10 percent in Frankfurt after news followed by the White House news panel—headed by former investment banker from Warren—outlined a restructuring for management at both GM and private equity-owned Chrysler and said that GM would take over half of the latter's debt.

NICKOLAI

GM's capital decline in the past few years and had run the company since 2000, was named as chief of the new GM.

Wagoner, Peugeot and GM President and Chief Operating Officer John Johnson were named as new CEO. Wagoner's board resignation came at the Obama administration, comes under the new GM.

It was only the second time that the US government has named a CEO to run GM since the federal crisis began last fall. Robert Williams had lost his job at the time of the US government's takeover of GM's 60 percent of the giant by the company.

In Europe, auto stocks fell on concern about the broader US market, the fall of the US auto industry.

"The fact that there's a change of GM going bankrupt is shocking," said Patrick Ebel, head of the investment strategy division at Morgan Stanley in Asia.

Obama, controlled by General Motors, was given 30 days to complete an alliance with Fiat or face a cutoff of its government funding that would force it to liquidate.

The move panel rejected a claim by Chrysler that Chrysler could be viable on its own, citing its relatively small size and weak product lineup and declining US market share.

Chrysler was complete as a top 10th Fiat and Chrysler had been merged with Chrysler and in the future, the Treasury would consider increasing up to 10% in 10 billion, officials said.

It officials said there had been progress to meet requests from Chrysler to buy back 10% of its shares. The Treasury would consider increasing up to 10% in 10 billion, officials said.

Stimulus spending bloats budget deficit

2-month shortfall of P67B approximates total for entire 2008

By Ronald W. Domingo

STIMULUS SPENDING PUSHED THE GOVERNMENT'S deficit to P67 billion in the first two months of the year, or almost equal to the P68.1-billion shortfall for the whole of 2008, according to Finance Secretary Margarito B. Teses.

Teses previously said the government's deficit in January and February was more than twice the P32.5-billion shortfall in the same period last year.

Government spending swelled the budget by P39 billion in January and by P28 billion in February.

"This is mainly due to accelerated spending to face with the government's economic recovery plan and weaker revenues as slower growth and no oil increases," he said.

"Despite this, we are on track in meeting our preliminary programed budget deficit of P125.1 billion for the first quarter," he added.

Ministering set its target on a P177.2-billion deficit in 2009, mainly on account of the P139-billion economic stimulus package to stimulate economic growth amid the worsening global economic crisis.

Teses said that bulk of the increase for the full year deficit program would register in the first semester as the government would broadcast its stimulus spending.

He said the deficit would hit P33.7 billion in the second quarter and P51.5 billion in the third quarter.

The finance chief added that there would be a budget deficit surplus of P14.8 billion.

Of the total, the BIR accounted for P25.4 billion, or 4.6 percent lower than P27.0 billion collected over the same period last year.

Also, some oil refineries were closed for two months.

"We will work harder to ensure our revenue targets to ensure that the government has the resources to provide the needs of its people during these difficult times," Teses said.

He said the deficit would hit P33.7 billion in the second quarter and P51.5 billion in the third quarter.

Japanese-inspired village to rise in Tagaytay Highlands

By Derek C. Domingo

UPSCALE LUXURY RESORT DEVELOPER Bello Corp. is investing up to P400 million in a Japanese-inspired subdivision within the plush Tagaytay Highlands complex.

The new multicultural community called "Wakayama" will be the sixth phase of Lakewood, a residential enclave situated at the base of the Tagaytay Highlands development, the company said.

The project will occupy about 14 hectares of land and will house 220 units, including 70 and 90 units, Bello executive vice president and chief finance officer Manuel Cane said in an interview yesterday.

The project will cost between P50 million and P60 million and will be completed in two to three years, he estimated.

Inspired by the great Japanese Palace of Kyoto, the subdivision will be designed as a town of simplicity and sustainability, the company said.

Psychic skills are not evil

ALMOST EVERY PERSON has experienced spontaneous manifestations of psychic perception or power. When it happens, it is usually dismissed as mere coincidence, not worth paying attention to.

But when such experiences happen in greater frequency in the most unlikely situations, however, the person usually becomes afraid and may even question his or her sanity.

This is what has been happening to Maribel. In an e-mail, she related that she did not want to happen to a person she does not know before it does.

One time, Maribel was riding a freeway on the way home. A man was seated next to her. "I could not describe the feeling I had when I looked at him, I felt very funny, as if something would happen to him." Three days later, the man, who happened to be a neighbor, was hit and killed following a motorcycle accident.

"The same thing happened when my friend's uncle died," continued Maribel. "When I saw him, it was as if he was in another dimension and only I could see him."

"Sometimes I would see things on a television screen like a snake in my neighbor's house. There were a rattle with light, but the rattle was outside the house instead of inside. Then the image disappeared and disappeared."

"Then my friend told me that somebody had died in their family. It was their youngest son. I found that dog because I had no idea and I died."

Before something happens, we must know how pretty or ugly-looking it is, the world we live in is full of things.

Maribel would also tell the most horrible date of a friend without asking her. "One time," she related, "I was talking with a staff from my office. I had instead of to give her a surprise on her birthday but I didn't know where it was. When we were talking on the phone, my mind just told me when her birthday was. After one conversation, I checked with my Human Resources for her birthday. It was the same one I had in my mind."

He said she didn't know when such psychic experiences began. "Is this real and? Or is this what's known as woman's intuition? Is this an evil force that's with me and how can we what his place are the others? Should I be afraid? When will this stop?"

Extraordinary gifts

First, let me assure you that you are normal and you are not losing your mind. Psychic ability is possessed by everybody, except that some have more developed in some situations than others.

Second, such experiences are not necessarily the result of evil forces. (Julie's Chela himself and his disciples include similar psychic abilities, like predicting the future, healing the sick, reading people's minds and even walking on water.) And didn't he say, "Everything that I have done you can do, and much more than that?" He was talking about such psychic gifts as you?

Third, why do you want to stop such ability? Many people would say by trying to develop such psychic skills that you possess intuitively. You don't have to study or develop them, which the most of it and use it to benefit and help yourself, your family and humanity in general.

If you are interested in learning more about this subject, attend my seminars or read my books. I recommend you start with "Understanding the Psychic Powers of Man" and "Empowering the Women of Your Mind." They are available in leading book stores in the country. Good luck.

Woman and sexuality

IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR A FEMALE sex symbol who can share her views on human sexuality with an open-minded San Francisco woman, Felicia is a good choice.

In a definition of sexuality, the World Health Organization (WHO) states it is "a central aspect of being human throughout life and encompasses sex, gender identity and roles, sexual orientation, romance, pleasure, intimacy and reproduction." Similarly, the WHO says, "sex may be experienced and expressed in thoughts, feelings, desires, beliefs, attitudes, values, behaviors, practices, roles and relationships. It is influenced by the interaction of biological, psychological, social, economic, political, cultural, ethical, legal, historical, religious and spiritual factors."

In short, it means you're a sexual being and your sexuality makes your sex life. But is the "behavior and practice" aspect of sexuality that's the rubber versus the bone?

"You learned to accept my own sexuality with confidence, but it hasn't always been that way. I was raised in a very conservative, traditional manner. I had to discover my sexuality and respect me as my own," Felicia says. "Young people should have access to sexuality education, as they grow up, so that they can better understand themselves, especially when it comes to having sex."

Who, I think women need to make an effort to get comfortable with their sexuality. My curiosity about sex grew as I started developing into a woman, and because I love experimenting. I may be flawed, but my parents (as well as me) respect the others," says Felicia. "So much so I believe that we should be engaged by ourselves, there must be respect. Before I can be self-aware, I need to have that certain level of affection and connection. That's a must."

As for equality in the bedroom, Felicia says men and women should should discover what makes them sexually and health when it comes to sex partners. "When I hear friends say they don't enjoy sex, I then advise on how both partners can get pleasure from the experience. There are good sex ways to tell your partner what will satisfy you without offending him, and vice versa," she says.

"Sexuality is like life, we explore it and grow. We gain new experiences about ourselves, our partners, our relationships. It's good to experiment," she says.

One gets the impression that Felicia's views originate from a place of seeing people who mean to take charge of their sexuality in a healthy and informed way so there is no difference when they realize, not as girls in their lives. "In terms of sexuality, it's important to respect the feelings and values of others and their freedom of choice," Felicia says.

Timid no more

See "Should We Ignore" on TV 5.

How do you encourage children to create with all her ideas?

I tell her, "Belgian, there are people, too. They understand where you're coming from." I guide Chad across with age. "We don't pursue her as for Mr. Friendship. I don't want to send her back to Belgium, but at home, Belgium is a small. The rest of Belgium is not. But, I will move people from that side of her."

What's the best thing about being a student?

There's not just one thing about it, it's really a joy that you can't quantify.

Did you still panic when Jellies were sick?

Thankfully, it's always been just the usual rough-and-tumble of the early years I'd panic at the slightest thing. But you tend to relax eventually. This comes with having fellow-sufferers.

How do you manage your time?

It's a matter of setting prices.

Yes, intending to say so when you start spreading yourself too thin. That used to be my problem; I didn't know how to be no.

I don't want to have regrets later on. I don't want to be as busy and not see my daughter grow up.
